President's Message

As we conduct our genealogical research we review death records to trace the events of the subject we are documenting. Those events are interesting but don't often evoke tears and a emotional sense of loss.

Feelings come into the picture when the death date is recorded for someone we know and bonded with and this is certainly the case with the passing of Don Fairchild last month.

Donald Howard Fairchild
August 18, 1934 - March 19, 2013

Don could always be counted on to know an answer or he would get an answer for every question I asked of him. He was a frequent guest speaker at our meetings and taught those classes with many years experience as a genalogist and Family History Center Director. He gained that knowledge and experience in Grants Pass and other locations where he and his wife Shar lived over the years.

Don's memorial service was beautiful with many friends and family speaking words of comfort as they recalled special memories they shared with him. I am always cheered to remind people when a genealogist dies they are still hard at work and most surely are easily getting the answers to all their questions.

Our affection and support goes out to Shar Fairchild and her family at this sad time in their life.

Celeste Guillory
President GPGS

April 9th Program Information:

Many of our members are curious about documenting their kin who fought in the American Revolution. To answer these questions, long-time members Barbara Johnson and Don Thomas will present an information session at the April 9th meeting about both organizations.

Both the DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution) and the SAR (Sons of the American Revolution) have excellent websites:

DAR - www.dar.org/
SAR - www.sar.org/

Daughters of the American Revolution

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

DAR Constitution Hall, Washington, DC

The Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) is a lineage-based membership service organization for women who are directly descended from a person involved in United States' independence.[1] A non-profit group, they work to promote historic preservation, education and patriotism. The DAR has chapters in all 50 U.S. states as well as in the District of Columbia. DAR chapters have been founded in Australia, Austria, the Bahamas, Bermuda, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Spain, and the United Kingdom. As of 2012, over 850,000 women have been able to trace their lineage to join this organization. Although it is referred to as the DAR, the official name of this organization is the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution (NSDAR).

In 1889 the centennial of President George Washington's inauguration was celebrated, and Americans looked for additional ways to recognize their past. Out of the renewed interest in United States history, numerous patriotic and preservation societies were founded. The First Lady, Caroline Lavina Scott Harrison, wife of the United States President Benjamin Harrison, lent her prestige to the founding of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution (NSDAR). She served as its first President General. She had initiated a renovation of the White House to update its infrastructure and was interested in historic preservation. She helped establish the goals of NSDAR. Four Washington, DC women founded the first chapter on October 11, 1890. The National Society of the DAR was incorporated by congressional charter in 1896.

DAR's motto is "God, Home, and Country."

Sons of the American Revolution

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution (SAR) is a Louisville, Kentucky-based fraternal organization in the United States. It is a 501(c)3 non-profit corporation that describes its purpose as "maintaining and extending the institutions of American freedom, an appreciation for true patriotism, a respect for our national symbols, the value of American citizenship, and the unifying force of e pluribus unum that has created, from the people of many nations, one nation and one people."

The first organization of descendants of Revolutionary War patriots was established in San Francisco, California in 1876. A group of men who were descendants of Revolutionary War veterans gathered to celebrate the centennial of the Declaration of Independence and the founding of the United States. They also wanted to honor the men and women who pledged their lives, fortunes, and livelihood to the striving for independence from Great Britain.

The history of the SAR can be traced to the founding of the Sons of the Revolution the New York Society of which was organized in 1883. The SR was founded by John Austin Stevens who envisioned an aristocratic social and hereditary organization along the lines of the Society of the Cincinnati. In 1889 William Osborn McDowell, a New Jersey financier and businessman, organized the New Jersey Society of the Sons of the Revolution but was unwilling to accept the SR's requirement that other state societies be subordinate to the New York society. Furthermore, McDowell wanted the society to become more of a mass movement of descendants of Revolutionary patriots rather than an exclusive social club. As a result, McDowell organized the Sons of the American Revolution (SAR) at Fraunces Tavern in New York on April 30, 1889. This was the centennial for the inauguration of George Washington as the First President of the United States of America in 1789. SAR member Number #1 was McDowell. William McDowell worked with six women to organize the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution on July 29, 1890.

The SAR was formally granted a congressional charter by an act of Congress under Title 36 of the United States Code on June 9, 1906. The act was signed by President Theodore Roosevelt, who was a member.

Free Webinars:

I would like to thank Barbara Basden of the Rogue Valley Genealogical Society for pointing out the upcoming FREE Family History Webinars provided at www.FamilyTreeWebinars.com. Barbara mentioned several of them in the latest issue of RVGS April 2013 Classes and Events, which piqued my interest to look into it further. I discovered that following each live presentation scheduled for 2013, the webinar is free to view for seven days and is then archived for purchase. Since I found the upcoming topics so appealing, I am attaching a list of both future and archived webinars at the end of this newsletter.—Editor

“Digital Imaging Essentials” by Geoff Rasmussen:

Although I haven’t had much time for reading recently, I have made an exception for this new book on digital imaging. I had been struggling (like a lot of other people) with how to convert 150 years of family photos to digital format so they could be shared with other family members and so that my one and only hard copy wouldn’t be the only copy in existence. Not being very much of a technology whiz, I wanted something simple, “just the facts, ma’am.” I think I have found it in this book. It is not boring! It covers how to scan, what file formats to use, how to organize and save your images so you can always locate them, and how to develop a backup strategy to protect them from catastrophic loss. The author covers how to use Adobe’s Photoshop Elements and Google’s Picasa programs with easy step-by-step illustrated instructions. The 150-page black-and-white book costs $19.95 and is available at www.legacyfamilytreestore.com. There is also a full-color PDF version of the book which you may still be able to get for free when you order the hard-copy book.--Editor

Bend Genealogical Society

2013 Spring Seminar

Featuring Christine Rose

Certified Genealogist
Fellow, American Society of Genealogists
Certified Genealogical Lecturer

Christine is coming to Bend for a stimulating day of genealogy!

Christine has extensive national lecturing experience and is the author of many acclaimed genealogy books, including: The Complete Idiot's Guide to Genealogy; Military Bounty Land 1776-1855; & Genealogical Proof Standard.

Christine will be presenting on four topics at the 2013 Spring Seminar:

- Genealogical Proof Standard: Building A Solid Case – Do you have enough evidence? Is it all circumstantial? What if there are conflicts? How do you make a decision? Is your case convincing? Christine uses many specific examples to demonstrate how to build a solid case.
- Avoid the Crooked Path! Genealogical Problem-Solving – Christine uses case studies to demonstrate how to zero in on your goal and stay on the path to reach it.
- Leaping to Erroneous Conclusions: What Did the Record REALLY Say?
We often look at a document and quickly come to a conclusion about what it means. But...did it really mean that? Christine examines how evidence can be misinterpreted.
- Solving the Problem Onsite in 25 Hours or Less – Featuring a case study, strategies are presented to maximize onsite research. The same strategies can be used when not onsite.

SATURDAY – April 27, 2013 <> 9:00 AM – 4:00 PM
