WRITING YOUR FAMILY HISTORY
Presented by BEVERLEY WELLINGTON

Beverley Wellington is Director of the Grants Pass Family History Center and is an excellent teacher with many years of genealogy experience. Her topic is timely and a valuable tool you can use to help preserve the information found during a research project.

President's Message

Dear Members,

I heard once that Irish, Italian and German immigrants who came to the United States are the kin of more than 80% of Americans living today. That's true for my family line and most of the members who mention their research to me. Our speaker this month will help you write the story of your family, so that story doesn't disappear. I look forward to Bev Wellington's presentation and hope to have a huge audience for it on Tuesday March 10 at 1:30PM.

This will be the first year the March program isn't dedicated to Irish research hints by Janis Seaton. Each year her presentation improved and she provided more good research tools and strategies to help find Irish research.

Janis asked me to tell our members that she has cancer and is undergoing chemotherapy that will interfere with her attendance for a few months, but she hopes to be back at meetings in the future. Janis is a past President and former newsletter editor and someone I depend on for advice, her research expertise and someone to run my ideas by from time to time. Please remind Janis how much you miss seeing her by sending her a card from time to time. It will be a happy day when I see her sitting in the audience again.

Le Raish donated a beautiful hand-made quilt top to the Society as a fund raising project. Jeri Paradise found someone to quilt the top and we now have a beautiful king-sized quilt to raffle. Thank you Le and Jeri for taking this project on and for the absolutely beautiful quilt we will raffle off later this year.

A reminder....meetings are being held in a new location. Enter the building from the East side of the building. The meeting room is on the right- the first 2 doors. The board of Directors meeting is open to all members and the meeting starts at 12:30. See meeting agenda in this newsletter.

SPRING SEMINAR

Finding Irish and Scots-Irish Roots

March 30, 2015 8:30 AM – 5 PM

Jackson County Genealogy Library 3405 S. Pacific Highway Medford, OR 97501

Presenters will be Fintan Mullan, Executive Director of the Ulster Historical Foundation (UHF) in Belfast, Ireland, and Gillian Hunt, Research Officer from the UHF.

Check-in and Browsing Book Table Welcome and Introductions
Introduction to Irish and Scots-Irish Family

History Research, Part 1 A broad overview of Scots-Irish and Irish research, benefiting beginners and seasoned genealogists alike, it is practical, wide- ranging and informative using visual aids and exploring the major collections, the destruction of records in 1922, and the importance of place and administrative divisions in Ireland, the importance of doing your homework of records and how to access them.

History Research, Part 2 Records Related to the Different Churches in Ireland
This session explains in some detail the church records available for the main Christian denominations in Ireland: Church of Ireland (Anglican), Presbyterian and Roman Catholic, as well providing an understanding of the differences between the different Protestant denominations. It makes the important point that there are other valuable records (usually of church administration) relating to churches which can document family history and which are not baptisms, marriages, burials or gravestone inscriptions. The presentation also looks at the value of annotations found in Catholic Church records, which can be of great benefit the family historian.

Using Land Records: Griffith's Valuation, Tithe and Estate records
This session covers the major land collections including, Griffith Valuation, tithe applotment books and tithe defaulters lists, the published Ordnances Survey Memoirs and OS maps. It also explores some other census substitutes for the nineteenth and late eighteenth centuries.

Emigration from the North of Ireland to North America and the Sources for Its Study

The story of the Scots-Irish and their experiences in Ireland and the New World are discussed in this presentation. Using a range of documentary evidence, this presentation will touch upon, the causes for migration, push and pull factors, the patterns of migration, the estimated size of the exodus implications and its for the development of American colonial society. The Ulster This talk will look at those sources which can throw light on Ulster families in the seventeenth century. It identifies documents relating to the Ulster Plantation (1610-41) which can be used to construct profiles of settler families. It also considers sources from the second half of the seventeenth century, such as hearth money rolls, the Civil Survey and poll books, which are of use to genealogists working in this period.

Solving Your Brick Walls/Q&A With the huge explosion of online records on the internet, we have found in recent years the 'solving your brick walls' to be an important part of the programme. This session can help the beginner and the seasoned genealogist alike. The speakers use a range of online resources (including the most important ppv sites like rootsireland.ie) and their local knowledge to offer participants practical tips about Irish and Scots-Irish research. The session combines straightforward Q&A interspersed with searches in real time online etc., for specific research queries submitted by the participants.

Early bird registration for this full day event: before March 15: $45 for members, $55 for non-members. Standard registration: $55 for members and $65 for non- members. Click here for the Registration Form, Irish Seminar Registration. See registration application on next page

How to Research Your Ancestor's Occupation

Researching ancestral jobs and occupations can teach you a great deal about the people who make up your family tree, and what life was like for them. An individual's occupation may give insight into their social status or to their place of origin. Occupations can also be used to distinguish between two individuals of the same name. Certain skilled occupations or trades may have been passed down from father to son, providing indirect evidence of a family relationship. It's even possible that your surname derives from the occupation of a distant ancestor.

Glossary of Old Occupations and Trade Names

The world of work has changed greatly from the times of our ancestors, causing many occupational names and terms to fall into disuse. If you found your ancestor named as a ripper, seinter, hosteler, sperviter, dobber, or pettifogger, would you know what it meant? This free glossary of old occupations explains the function of hundreds of old occupations, trades, and job titles.

Update

Are you using our Facebook page to assist you with your family history research??? We've got two new followers this past month, up to 65 Total Page Likes. There were 113 posts in February with a total reach of 1,846 views, with 260 engaging by clicking on a link, liking or sharing one of our posts. This is a dramatic increase from January, yet there were several posts that were only seen by 4 to 6 people. Our most popular posts were about RootsTech, where one post was seen by 93!. We thank you for helping to get the word out about our facebook page & for sharing the genealogy links with your friends. It is a valuable resource in your family history toolbox!

Facebook was abuzz with photos & videos coming from RootsTech 2015 & I posted lots of links about how to access the live-streamed conference sessions, how to download handouts & about much of the fun & excitement taking place at the world's largest genealogical gathering! You can still view the terrific array of recorded sessions available by following the link shared on our Facebook page. Being able to share up-to-the-minute news is one of Facebook's strong points. Besides monthly meeting reminders, we are able to share meeting room changes & other news to keep you in the know. Several free access weekends were written about, Five-Minute Finds video education opportunities were posted about, along with links to get several wonderful free e-book downloads on getting organized, DNA & genetic information and Surname Search Tips. Other not-to-miss topics in February include a wonderful dictionary of old medical terms, 50 free genealogy sites to search today, 20 different how-to genealogy sites, mapping migration in the US, charting your variant name spellings, clues from probate inventories, marriage & divorce resources, tips for finding a married daughter a few households away, how “old man” frats got their names & symbols plus a great article: Are Your Family Treasures at the National Archives? Newspapers were a popular topic with links to Illinois Online Historic Newspapers, Utah Digital Newspapers & 3 Free Newspaper Archives shared. The Missouri Digital Heritage site was linked to, along with Civil War Records & Illinois Civil War Soldiers Photos On-line. Across the pond, articles included Free Sites for Researching in England, Scotland, Wales & Ireland, along with links on United Kingdom Wills, Irish Land Records, Irish Roots on the Orphan Trains, Old WW II Maps, mapping your “German” ancestors, Soviet Union calendar dates & the sad news of a fire in a major Russian library that destroyed 1 million records.

Please check out our Facebook page frequently—and remember that all these topics are available to you by scrolling back down our page. When you get to a place that says “Highlight,” just click on it & a drop-down box will give you an option to see “All Stories” that are archived on our page. As always, I’m happy to assist you if you have any questions about our Facebook page. Wishing you many happy discoveries to your family tree.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Now Kentucky is up to no good! The legislature is considering a bill which will restrict access to vital records. Death records will be available to the general public after 50 years, but more recent death certificates will be available ONLY to:

Widows or widowers; a child (of decease) 18 or older; parent; grandparent; personal representative of the estate; funeral directors handling the funeral; beneficiary of an insurance policy of the decedent; and a person with a claim against the estate.

This means that you can't get any certificates for uncles, aunts and the like.

Birth records will be available only to the living individual or after 100 years. Divorce and marriage records will be available after 70 years.

If you have any interest in this you can find the bill at <http://www.lrc.state.ky.us/record/04rs/HB100/SCSI.doc>

If you want to contact legislators, go to <http://www.lre.state.ky.us/whoswho/whoswho.htm>

Still looking for a president. I (Don Thomas) really am an acting president as the by laws prohibit me from serving as president.

Hear are some facts about the 1500's:

Most people got married in June because they took their yearly bath in May and still smelled pretty good by June.

However, they were starting to smell so brides carried a bouquet of flowers to hide the body odor. Hence the custom today of carrying a bouquet when getting married.

The floor was dirt. Only the wealthy had something other than dirt. Hence the saying "dirt poor".

Houses had thatched roofs-thick straw piled high, with no wood underneath. It was the only place for animals to get warm, so all the dogs, cats and other small animals (mice, bugs) lived in the roof. When it rained it became slippery and sometimes the animals would slip and fall off the roof. Hence the saying "It's raining cats and dogs."
